

- Said some of the icons looked too big on the watchlist screen
- Said the ratio of icons were off on the watchlist screen – everything looked too big for the screen but it looked neat
- Said the spacing of icons were not lined up on the watchlist screen
- Said she liked the search page and that it is reminiscent of Netflix.
- On the search page, she said she likes that you can see the covers of the movie at a good size
- On the movie page, she said there shouldn't have been screenshots of information, rather we should've made the whole background black and made the text white for it
- Said it was easy to navigate movie page
- Said the add to watchlist button is kind of small
- Said the watchlist page should have more columns; the icons are big but the actual content is small
- Said there shouldn't have been screenshots on the watchlist page
- Said it is quite simple to create a list
- Said it has every function you should expect from a watchlist
- Said the share screen had very big font, but she likes that you can share it with people
- Said that the sharing your watchlist feature looked too similar to Google Docs and that it didn't fit the aesthetic of IMDb
- Said the stars on the user reviews page is unnecessary - thought that 10 stars was too much